

ILIKEITDEEP · A GUIDED JOURNAL

30 Days Clear

A Daily Recovery Journal for Quitting Porn

printable pdf · 30 daily pages · private & judgment-free

WELCOME

Before Day One

First: you're not broken, and you're not the only one.
You're someone whose brain got trained by something engineered to train it — and who has now decided to take the controls back.

That decision is the whole foundation. This journal is the daily practice built on top of it.

Each day: a quick honest check-in. Urges noticed, triggers named, wins counted. Slips, if they happen,
get honesty instead of shame — shame is fuel
for the cycle, and we're done feeding it.

Recovery grows fastest with support. A therapist or recovery group alongside this journal is strength, not defeat.

My 30-Day Commitment

What I'm stepping away from, in my own words:

My why — what I want back:

My riskiest times and places (name them now):

My plan when an urge hits (people, moves, exits):

Signed, with self-respect: _____

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 1 OF 30

Day 1

today was: good hard mixed proud

Any urges today? What was happening right before they showed up?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 2 OF 30

Day 2

today was: good hard mixed proud

What feeling was today's hardest moment really about — stress, loneliness, boredom?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 3 OF 30

Day 3

today was: good hard mixed proud

What did you do instead when the pull came? Log the win.

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 4 OF 30

Day 4

today was: good hard mixed proud

How's your sleep, energy, and focus today compared to day one?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 5 OF 30

Day 5

today was: good hard mixed proud

What device or situation do you need a better boundary with?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 6 OF 30

Day 6

today was: good hard mixed proud

What are you feeling more of lately — and is any of it uncomfortable? That's normal. Name it.

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 7 OF 30

Day 7

today was: good hard mixed proud

Write about a moment today you felt genuinely proud or present.

Weekly Check-In

This week's clean days and close calls — the honest count:

My strongest trigger this week and what I'm changing about it:

What's coming back — focus, confidence, real connection:

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 8 OF 30

Day 8

today was: good hard mixed proud

What would you tell a friend fighting the same fight today?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 9 OF 30

Day 9

today was: good hard mixed proud

What's one way today-you protected tomorrow-you?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 10 OF 30

Day 10

today was: good hard mixed proud

Re-read your why. Does it need updating? Write today's version.

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 11 OF 30

Day 11

today was: good hard mixed proud

Any urges today? What was happening right before they showed up?

30 DAYS CLEAR · DAY 12 OF 30

30 Days Clear. That's Real.

A month ago this felt impossible. Then you did it
the only way anyone ever does: one honest day,
then another, then another.

Whether your month was spotless or scrappy,
you now know the truth the cycle hid from you:
you CAN do this. You have the receipts.

Write your next-30 plan: what you'll keep doing, what support you'll add, and what you'll do with all that reclaimed time.

*Clear eyes, clean days, life coming back.
Keep going.*
