

ILIKEITDEEP · A GUIDED JOURNAL

30 Days Whole

A Daily Journal for Sexual Addiction Recovery

printable pdf · 30 daily pages · honest & judgment-free

WELCOME

Before Day One

This journal starts from one truth: you are not your compulsion. You're a whole person whose coping got tangled with something that now costs more than it gives — and you've decided to get untangled.

That takes more courage than most people will ever know.

Each day here is a short, honest check-in: urges, triggers, feelings underneath, and wins — however small. Slips get truth and a next step, never shame spirals.

One thing said with love: this kind of recovery is genuinely hard to do alone. A therapist who knows this work, or a recovery group, multiplies everything in these pages. You deserve that backup.

My 30-Day Commitment

What recovery means to me, in my own words:

My why — the life and relationships I want:

My riskiest patterns, times, and situations:

My plan when the pull hits (people, moves, exits):

Signed, one day at a time: _____

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 1 OF 30

Day 1

today was: good hard mixed proud

Any urges or pulls today? What was the feeling right before?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 2 OF 30

Day 2

today was: good hard mixed proud

What were you really seeking in today's hardest moment — comfort, escape, feeling wanted?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 3 OF 30

Day 3

today was: good hard mixed proud

What did you choose instead today? Every redirect counts. Log it.

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 4 OF 30

Day 4

today was: good hard mixed proud

How are you treating yourself in your own head today — coach or critic?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 5 OF 30

Day 5

today was: good hard mixed proud

What connection felt real today — a talk, a laugh, being honest with someone?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 6 OF 30

Day 6

today was: good hard mixed proud

What boundary protected you today, or needs building for tomorrow?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 7 OF 30

Day 7

today was: good hard mixed proud

What's one feeling you sat with today instead of escaping? How did that go?

Weekly Check-In

The honest week: strong days, close calls, and what I learned:

The feeling I escaped from most this week — and one healthier door for it:

Where I'm starting to feel more whole:

Day 8

today was: good hard mixed proud

What would you say to someone you love who was fighting this same fight?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 9 OF 30

Day 9

today was: good hard mixed proud

Where did you feel genuinely whole today, even for a moment?

30 DAYS WHOLE · DAY 10 OF 30

Day 10

today was: good hard mixed proud

Re-read your why. Write what it means to you today.

Day 30

today was: good hard mixed proud

Re-read your why. Write what it means to you today.

30 Days of Coming Home to Yourself

Thirty days of telling the truth to a page —
which means thirty days of telling the truth to yourself.
That's what wholeness is actually made of.

However the month went, you were brave in a way nobody hands out medals for. So take this page as one.

Keep the honesty. Keep the support. Keep going.

Write your next chapter: what you're keeping, what support you're adding, and what 'whole' looks like for you now.

You were never broken. You were becoming whole.
