

ILIKEITDEEP · A GUIDED JOURNAL

Finding My Way Back

A Gentle Journal for Low and Heavy Days

printable pdf · 18 guided questions · no pressure, ever

WELCOME

Before You Begin

This journal has one rule: there are no rules.

You can write one word or three pages. You can skip any question that feels like too much today. You can put it down for a week and come back. It will not judge you.

Heavy days make everything feel like a test.
This is not a test. These pages are just a soft place to set down what you've been carrying.

One gentle note: this journal is a place to think,
not a replacement for support. If the heavy days keep stacking up, a therapist, doctor, or someone you trust deserves to know. Asking for help is strength.

PART ONE

Where I Am

You can't find your way back without first admitting where you're standing. That takes courage.

[illegible][illegible]

A decorative border consisting of small dots runs along all four edges of the worksheet.

FINDING MY WAY BACK · 2 OF 18

What is one small thing that happened today that wasn't bad?

A small, solid red heart icon centered below the question.

PART TWO

What I Need

Needs are not weaknesses. They are directions.

[illegible][illegible]

Who is someone who has shown up for you before, even in a small way?

FINDING MY WAY BACK · 9 OF 18

What has helped, even a little, on a hard day before this one?

A small, solid pink heart icon positioned centrally above the writing area.

What's one basic need — food, water, rest, sunlight — you haven't met today?

PART THREE

Small Ways Forward

You don't have to climb out today. You just have to face the door.

The image shows a worksheet page with a light gray background and a dotted border. At the top center, the title "FINDING MY WAY BACK · 13 OF 18" is written in a bold, pink, sans-serif font. Below the title, centered, is a reflection prompt in a black, italicized serif font: "What would 'good enough' look like for today, instead of 'okay'?". Underneath the prompt is a small pink heart icon. The lower half of the page consists of horizontal pink lines for writing. At the bottom center, the website address "ilikeitdeep.us" is printed in a small, gray, sans-serif font.

What would it look like to be gentle with yourself for the next hour?

Is there someone you could reach out to today, even with a short message?

A decorative border made of small dots surrounds the entire page.

FINDING MY WAY BACK · 18 OF 18

What has today taken from you, and what, if anything, has it given you?

A small red heart icon centered below the question.

One Tiny Thing at a Time

Small, doable actions. Check off only what feels possible — one counts.

- ☐ Drink a glass of water
- ☐ Open a window or step outside for one minute
- ☐ Wash your face or take a shower
- ☐ Eat something, anything
- ☐ Put on clean, comfortable clothes
- ☐ Send one short text to one person
- ☐ Sit in sunlight for five minutes
- ☐ Play one song you used to love
- ☐ Take ten slow breaths
- ☐ Write one sentence in this journal

BONUS • KEEP THESE

Proof I Kept Going

*Collect your small wins here — even 'I got up' belongs on this page.
On the hardest days, come read this list.*

BEFORE YOU CLOSE THIS JOURNAL

A Note, From One Human to Another

This journal is a place to think, not a replacement for support.

If these heavy days keep stacking up, or things ever feel unsafe, please reach out to a therapist, doctor, or someone you trust.

You don't have to carry this alone, and asking for help is not a failure — it's one of the strongest things you can do.

You picked up this journal. You showed up for yourself.
That already counts.

You found your way here. That counts.
