A Quiet Journal With Scripture Woven Through the Pages

Your journal knows the real you."*

WELCOME

Before You Begin

Life doesn't often hand you stillness — you have to choose it. This journal is an invitation to slow down for a few minutes and sit with a little quiet, a little scripture, and a little honesty about what's really going on underneath the noise.

There's no rushing required here. Just you, a verse, and a page.

What does 'rest' actually look like for you right now — not the Pinterest version, the real one?

PART ONE

Slowing Down

Stillness isn't laziness. It's where you finally hear yourself think.

PART TWO

Being Still

You don't have to fix everything today. You just have to be here.

2 Timothy 1:7

PART THREE

Listening Closely

The quiet isn't empty. It's where the small, good things finally get heard.

Write a short prayer, or a note to yourself, for the version of you reading this a year from now.

"The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

BONUS

A Short Practice

Each morning this week, read one verse before you check your phone. Notice what shifts.

Verses I Want to Remember

*Be still.
The rest will find its way to you.*
